

BRISTOL HIGH WINS OPENING GAME ON LOCAL HIGH FIELD

First Team This Year to Defeat
Strong Trenton Catholic High

GAME BITTERLY FOUGHT

Game Ends With Score Standing at 6 to 3 in Favor of Bristol

It was a case of too much bowing to suit Trenton Catholic High School when they clashed with Bristol on the local high school field, Saturday afternoon, and lost by the score of 6 to 3.

The newly-formed Bristol High made its formal bow, the Bristol Cadets made a bow before the fans at half-time, the new P. A. system of broadcasting the play-by-play description of the game bowed to the public's delight, coach Steve Juenger's 1938 Cardinal and Gray gridders bowed before the home folks for the first time this season amidst the cheers of the fans, Billy Gallagher made his bow as a member of the team for the initial time during the present campaign. And all in all Trenton Catholic, not to be outdone in the bowing department, made a formal bow out of the undefeated ranks of high schools for a 6-3 defeat at the hands of Coach Juenger's Cardinals.

In spite of the victory and the fact that the Cardinals looked better Saturday afternoon than they did in any of their previous four contests played so far, they have yet to iron out many noticeable kinks in the machine in order that it may run smoothly.

There was the conspicuous fault of pass defense which Trenton Catholic worked almost to perfection against the local lads. In fact it was the losers' passing attack that did any damage at all against Bristol during the entire contest. Of the 15 first downs they made, 13 of them were the direct results of passing. Only once did they make a first down on a single running play. That occurred in the final period when Johnny Honey ran through Bristol's defense for 26 yards on a fake kick.

Another evident and frequently occurring fault was the fumbling of Bristol's backs, who let the ball slip out of their hands five times, and on each occasion, Trenton Catholic recovered.

Coach Juenger continued to shift his lineup by inserting Joe Pica at left end in place of Steve Florio, and Charlie Ruszin at tackle in place of John Coccardas. Also Vince Proffy made his first start as a guard on the line. But in spite of these changes, Juenger is still not fully satisfied with his team's showing for there is still something lacking that he hopes to remedy before next week's game with Laneshome.

Bristol opened a drive in the early moments of the initial period that netted them a touchdown on a 25-yard pass thrown by Danny DiMidio to Wilmer White, who took it on the five and ran over to score. But an off-side penalty on Bristol nullified the play. Immediately afterward, Trenton took the ball and marched down the field to within Bristol's 20, but Hardy Johnson intercepted a pass on the 10 to stop the drive. He returned the ball nine yards to his own 19-yard line.

It was from this point that Bristol started their touchdown march — a drive that culminated in the winning counter, chalked up by the local gridders. The march was stopped only by the end of the first period.

Starting from his own 19, Johnson ripped off 12 yards for a first down on the 31. Danny DiMidio picked up four yards on an off-tackle drive, then taking a reverse from DiMidio, Bill Gallagher heaved a pass on the run to Steve Florio, who grabbed it on Trenton's 46-yard line for 19 yards. Johnson placed it on the 44, and another pass, DiMidio to Gallagher, netted 35 yards to put the ball on Trenton's nine-yard stripe. Johnson lost six yards, then DiMidio again chucked a pass to Gallagher who snared it in the end zone to score. Wilbur Van Lenten's attempt to boot the extra point failed.

Most of the game was taken up in the process of one team marching down the field deep into their opponent's territory, only to be stopped at the threshold of entering touchdown land again.

BOLT TO JAMES GAINS ADDED IMPETUS

109 of 156 Guffey Leaders in Allegheny Renounce Senator For His Stand on Charges

ALL PLEDGE SUPPORT

(By International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24 — More than 100 ward and district chairmen who supported Thomas Kennedy in his unsuccessful fight for the Democratic gubernatorial candidacy in the primaries, today were behind the entire Republican ticket, according to a statement by Joseph S. Doyle, Kennedy vice-chairman in this city.

Doyle credited the swing to Judge Arthur H. James and the remainder of the Republican candidates to the alleged growing sentiment against the present administration.

"Our people," he said, "would rather give James everything than allow 'Davey' Lawrence to get another ounce of power. We believe he has given the people a real hooking."

With pledges of support already coming from Luzerne and Schuylkill counties, 109 of the 156 Guffey Democratic leaders in Allegheny county passed a resolution indorsing the Republican candidates.

That landslide of support came as a direct aftermath of initial action taken Saturday when 14 of the Guffey chiefs, led by the way with declarations of the resolution, were installed.

The resolution was signed by each of the leaders who in Pittsburgh city wards, and in the county boroughs and townships formed the backbone of the Guffey-Kennedy primary campaign last Spring. In that resolution they said:

"We still feel now as we felt in the primary campaign that the Regular Democratic Party, by its graft and corruption and excessive taxation, has driven industry from the State of Pennsylvania."

The Allegheny county movement for James and the other Republican candidates followed closely those in the other counties.

Friday night cheering Guffey-Kennedy primary supporters in Luzerne county met in Wilkes-Barre and pledged their energies to the Republican cause. Saturday the full strength of the Schuylkill County Kennedy Democratic organization moved in the same direction.

Saturday's action came at a meeting here at which Joseph S. Doyle, vice-chairman of the Permanent Kennedy-Guffey Organization, criticized Senator Joseph Guffey for his condemnation of the charges of graft and corruption made against Democratic administration leaders in Harrisburg.

"If Guffey could say in the primary campaign that they (the administration leaders) were unworthy and unfit for public office," he said, "how can he support them today and expect us to support them?"

The officers of the Kennedy-Guffey organization, in addition to Doyle, are Frank Dixon, chairman; Nellie Hoffman, secretary, and Martin V. Joyce, treasurer. The group's 156 members are representative of the 32 wards in Pittsburgh, the three third-class cities of Duquesne, McKeesport and Clairton and 121 boroughs and townships.

The action, it was explained, was taken following a committee conference with Senator Guffey on Friday. Of that conference, Doyle said:

"Before any member of the committee could speak, Senator Guffey, much excited and waving his arms, said: 'Jobs! Jobs! Don't talk about jobs for I'm job-sick!'"

Doyle said members of the committee explained they had no intention of talking of jobs; that they wished to talk of principle in political action.

After the purpose of the visit was outlined, Doyle said, Guffey announced he "wanted no part of it."

"We paid Guffey's passport into the Democratic Party and now that we stand for the principles Guffey himself enunciated in the primary campaign," he added, "we are considered rebels."

As a speaker at today's meeting asserted that "the Democrats have made a shambles out of public employment; they have created a monstrous job racket."

SON FOR MITCHENERS

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

The National Farm School is making preparations for the observance of its Harvest Festival on Sunday, October 30th, at two p. m. This is an annual event at the school and will mark the institution's 41st annual meeting.

Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, Dean and Director of the New Jersey Experiment Station at Rutgers University, an outstanding national authority on agriculture, will be the guest speaker. There will be a number of other distinguished guests as well.

The school, located one mile west of Doylestown, encourages city boys to enter agriculture as a vocation. On its 1200 acre farms, they are taught how to operate a farm scientifically — the management of a dairy herd, poultry plant, greenhouses and orchards.

Roy F. Stackel was elected president to succeed Clarence S. Daub at the reorganization meeting of the Sellersville Kiwanis Club.

Other officers named were: Vice-president, B. Earl Druckenmiller; treasurer, R. Lloyd Weisel, and directors, Harmer Lutz, Albert Ziegenfuss, Jr., R. A. Toffelsen, Alexander Alexander, Earl S. Moyer, Walter Soltan and Francis P. Kemmerer. The secretary is Marco G. Bean.

During the business meeting Mr. Daub reported on the State Kiwanis Rally held at Johnstown, last week. The club also voted to petition the county commissioners to repair and repave the old covered bridge in Perkaskie.

Following the session, Earl S. Moyer invited the new officials and directors to his home where they decided to contribute towards the Boy Scout campaign now in effect.

John Stone, Jr., a member of the Morrisville Rotary Club, was the guest speaker at the Perkaskie group.

Mr. Stone, who spoke on "Brushes," was introduced by Paul S. Gruber, supervising principal of Sellersville-Perkaskie High School.

Two guests present were Ralph Pennypacker and Hiram Wismer, of the East Greenville-Pennsburg Rotary Club.

With Mrs. James Magill, eastern director of the Legion Auxiliary officiating, new officers of the auxiliary of Willet C. Sanford Post, Morrisville, were installed.

Members of the Junior Auxiliary gave an entertainment.

The officers installed are: President, Mrs. Frank Braker; first vice-president, Mrs. John Shultz; second vice-president, Mrs. Russell Ettinger; secretary, Mrs. Edward Mountford; treasurer, Mrs. George McAuley; his-

BROWN-ARNOLDI NUPTIAL CEREMONY PERFORMED

Wedding Takes Place at The Home of The Bride's Parents in Edgely

RECEPTION IN TRENTON

EDGELY, Oct. 24—A wedding occurred Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Arnoldi, North Radcliffe street, when their daughter, Miss Ruth Pearl Arnoldi, became the bride of Thomas Walter Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Brown.

The Rev. James R. Gailley, of Bristol Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony amid a setting of palms and chrysanthemums. The bride was given in marriage by her father, while John Conyers of Edgely sang "Because" and "At Dawning." The bride's sister, Miss Katherine Arnoldi, was bridesmaid; and Robert Dansen, Lodi, N. J., a cousin of the bride, acted as best man.

The bride was attired in a white brocaded velvet gown, shirred at the waist line, with leg-o'-mutton sleeves, finished with a small collar trimmed with seed pearls. The skirt ended in a short train. She wore white satin sandals and a bridal veil of tulle which fell from a headpiece of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was white chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaid wore a brown velvet gown, dirndl style, with a square neck line and short puffed sleeves. It was trimmed with two gold clips and the skirt was full at the hemline. She wore gold slippers and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, and wore a band of flowers in her hair.

The bride's mother was attired in teal blue with black accessories, and wore a corsage of tallman roses. The groom's mother was also in teal blue and wore a corsage of tallman roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Paul's Restaurant, Trenton, N. J., for the bridal party and a few guests.

The young couple will reside in their newly-purchased bungalow on Griebel avenue.

AT FOOD FAIR

Mrs. Howard L. Edwards and Mrs. Leslie J. Edwards, Maple Beach, spent Wednesday at the food fair, Commercial Museum, Philadelphia.

VISITS DAUGHTER

Mrs. Martha McDonald, 546 Bath street, was a guest from Friday until Sunday of her daughter, Mrs. Ethel Cray, Mayfair.

torian, Mrs. Alfred Buckalew; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. William Nolan; chaplain, Mrs. Margaret Carman.

The October business meeting of the Yardley Youth Temperance Council was held at the home of Stanley Twining, Newtown Road, followed by a "doggie" roast.

The president, Miss Betty Jean Garlits, reported that Mrs. John B. Nolan, of Malvern, recording secretary of the Pennsylvania W. C. T. U., had been speaker in the school for Francis Willard Day program. Miss Margaret Labaw, of the Junior Y. T. C., read an original paper on the life of Miss Willard.

During the session a quiz on the etiquette of the American flag was conducted by Miss Gladys A. Harper.

On Tuesday evening, November 8, the senior and junior councils will present a program at the regular meeting of the Yardley W. C. T. U. This will be held at the home of Mrs. Lucy A. Harper, the president.

MORRISVILLE BOY HURT AS FLAGPOLE FALLS

Mervin Elliott, 8, is Struck Across Back As He Lay Upon the Ground

NOW IN THE HOSPITAL

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 24—An eight-year-old boy lies seriously injured in McKinley Hospital, Trenton, as the result of his eagerness to witness a bowling match. The injured lad is Mervin Elliott, 8, 121 Bank street. The accident occurred Friday night.

Attracted by the sound of crashing pins during a bowling match at the Morrisville Community House, North Pennsylvania avenue and Palmer street, the boy took up a position on the ground south of the entrance, lying on his stomach in order to catch a glimpse of the games which were being played in the basement of the building.

A group of other children were playing on the lawn on the north side of the entrance, several of them swinging on the rope of the 55-foot flagpole.

Suddenly the metal pole split at its base and came crashing down on the steps of the community house. Before the Elliott child could scramble to safety, the top section struck him across the back.

Screams of the playing children attracted men inside the community house and the injured boy was hurried to the office of Dr. James M. Klenk. Realizing the seriousness of the injuries, Dr. Klenk had the child removed to McKinley Hospital.

There it was found the pole had crushed the boy's shoulder blade, broke his left arm, inflicted a deep laceration on his shoulder and crushed four of his ribs. He is under the care of Dr. A. James Fessler, the Elliott family physician. Last night the boy was reported in a serious condition, but slightly improved since the mishap occurred.

Dancing and Games Amuse A Group of Young People

Dolores Pieters, North Radcliffe street, entertained a few friends at her home on Friday evening at games and dancing. Refreshments were served. Halloween decorations were used.

Those present: Mary Ellen Mulhern, Myrtle Collier, Marjorie Dugan, Mary Gallagher, Eunice McVane, Joseph Foster, Charles Weik, Douglass Kelly, Francis Allen, William Velch.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

Mr. Dewey's Chances

Washington, Oct. 22.

Mr. Dewey's Chances

WHILE the betting favorite less frequently loses in politics than on the race track, in a fight such as that in New York there are so many factors that the 8 to 5 now being favored by Governor Lehman's re-election is not particularly convincing. It is not made more so by the evident lack of LaGuardia cordiality and the latter's public threat that unless the Governor comes out for the New Deal, some features of which he is known to disapprove, the Mayor will not support him. If Mr. Lehman permits himself thus to be coerced into the blanket indorsement demanded, the general estimate of him as a man will have to be changed.

ASIDE from this, however, the weight seems on the Lehman side. He is a man of admitted strength, with a good record and strong support. In addition to the indorse-

Accuses Pope Pius

Berlin, Oct. 24—Pope Pius today was accused of "blind hatred" in a counter-attack by der Angriff against the Pontiff's anti-Nazi onslaught last week.

"Who called on Christ's vicar to charge Germany with political intention through the method of Jewish war makers?"

The Pope's attack, said der Angriff, came "after the Fuehrer proved at Munich that he is seeking the co-operation of the big civilized powers, and not world hegemony."

Meeting To Be Held In The Grand Theatre, Thursday Evening, 8 o'Clock

SCHNITZEL BAND MUSIC

A Republican rally is to be held in the Grand Theatre, Bristol, Thursday evening, at eight o'clock, according to an announcement made today by the officers of the Young Republican Club of Bristol.

A number of the best speakers in the present political campaign have been booked to address the meeting here, plans for which are being pushed with vigor by the Young Republicans.

The list of speakers include William S. Livengood, Jr., candidate for Secretary of Internal Affairs; Hon. G. Mason Owlett, Tioga County; Howard I. James, Esquire, candidate for State Senate; Charles L. Gerlach, candidate for Congress from the Bucks-Lehigh District; and Miss Anna K. Hawkes, a well-known young woman orator of Bristol Township.

Music for the rally is to be furnished by the Schnitzel Band, a well-known musical organization of Allentown.

The rally is not confined to the Republicans of Bristol but Republicans from all of the surrounding districts as well, it is stated.

The American Legion Cadets are to parade and will march inside of the theatre previous to the opening of the meeting.

Crime Prevention Society's Work Will Be Presented

YARDLEY, Oct. 24—The Rev. Thomas Merryweather will give motion pictures in St. Andrew's parish house, Tuesday evening, at eight o'clock on the work of the crime prevention society of Philadelphia.

This is being held under auspices of the Yardley Lion's Club with Arthur W. Blaker, Louis C. Leedom, and Dr. H. L. Bassett, in charge.

In the area where the society has been at work juvenile crime has been reduced, where it has been on the increase in the surrounding districts. The society has proved its value, and endeavors to extend the benefits of its ideas and method to other communities.

The admission to the affair is by guest card only from the members of the Lions' club and the committee.

PAINFULLY INJURED WHEN KICKED BY A HORSE AT SHOW HERE

Clarence McKane, Chester, Suffers Dislocation of A Vertebrae

TO ABINGTON HOSPITAL

Came Into Contact With Another Mount and Knocked Off

Kicked by his mount after falling, Clarence McKane, Chester, was painfully injured yesterday afternoon while participating in one of the events of the annual fall horse show held under the auspices of the Bristol Riding Club at Laing's Estate, Newportville Road.

McKane entered in the gentlemen riders point to point race and after completing one and one-half of the course came into contact with another mount, was knocked off and then kicked by his horse, Smitty.

Dr. A. Gonzales, who was a spectator at the show, examined the youth, and ordered him to a hospital. Members of the Bucks County Rescue Squad rushed McKane to the Abington Hospital. It was feared that the boy had a broken back, but upon examination he was found to have a sub-displacement of the fifth vertebrae. He left the hospital last evening.

The accident was the only thing that marred the two days' events which were packed with thrills, fine performances, and expert jumping. In conjunction with the show yesterday a rodeo exhibition was given by Al Hernig and his boys.

The feature event of the show, the hunters and jumpers class in which the Delaware Valley Challenge Trophy was up for competition, was won by Mrs. Susanne Ford, New York City, with her grey gelding, Lucky Strike. This was the final time this season that the trophy was up for competition.

THOSE HIDDEN TAXES

While the average citizen must know by now that he is subject to an unreasonable and burdensome levy of hidden taxes, there is much in this subject which eludes his understanding. Hence the importance of studies which may reveal facts likely to make the people adequately tax conscious. One of these surveys has recently been completed by the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company of Minneapolis.

Three years have been spent in this study by company experts. Their findings are summarized in the statement that 13½ cents in traceable indirect taxes are paid by the average American consumer every time he spends a dollar. This, however, is not the whole of the story, for these experts have also found that in small or elusive items another five or six cents are concealed.

This means, then, that out of every dollar which the consumer pays for the things he requires from day to day, a total of nineteen cents goes for taxes. In other words, nearly one-fifth of all he spends in the course of a year goes for taxes which are intentionally hidden, for the obvious purpose of fooling the payer into believing that taxes for government are not so great as they really are.

The importance of these findings is simply that when an individual computes the amount of his annual taxes, he is fooling himself in no small degree when he stops at direct levies. He does not know the whole story unless he adds $242 out of a yearly salary of $3,600 to cover indirect levies.

JOHN BARRETT

Few men have made greater practical contributions to the cause of civilized relations between nations than John Barrett, who just has died at the age of 84.

Nearly all of Barrett's active life was spent in the diplomatic service of this country, mostly in the Latin-American field. Monuments to his service are found over the whole of Latin America. They take the form of treaties negotiated, of claims settled, of disputes mediated or arbitrated through his initiative, of wars averted. As director-general of the Pan-American Union, 1907-1920, he laid the basis for a regime of law that still promotes and governs a peaceful relationship among the peoples of this hemisphere.

There is no record of John Barrett's thoughts, whatever they may have been, as he surveyed in his last years the eclipse of international law elsewhere in the world. The new barbarism must have distressed him; yet his own long, and often discouraging, effort for the paramountcy of law over undisciplined might must have given him hope that in the end world civilization will triumph.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Mar. 29, 1877. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

John Scofield, better known as "Long Jack," was struck by the cars and killed on Saturday evening about 7:30 o'clock. He attempted to cross the track at the Mill street crossing in front of the approaching Limited Express train. The flagmen shouted to him several times, and the engineer sounded his whistle, but he did not heed the warning, and in consequence was hurled with terrific force against a post of the canal bridge, and so severely injured that he lived only about half an hour after being taken to Cortland Lynn's (in shop).

Dr. Becker received his commission on Tuesday evening, and on Saturday evening, after the close of the business for the day, the formal transfer of the post-office will be made by Mr. Mears. It is fitting here to say that the retiring postmaster goes out of office with a record of having by his efficiency and attention to his business, made the office one of the best conducted offices in the country, and by his accommodating manners and his readiness and willingness at all times to do cheerfully what he thought would conduce to the benefit of the mail service and the people, he has gained the esteem of all persons whatever their creed or their politics.

The auditing committee of the council have made a report of the borough finances which presents quite a favorable showing. The treasurer's receipts from all sources were $3,153.01. The balance due him at the commencement of the year was $353.25. Payments since of interest on funded debt, $555; outstanding orders of previous term, $2,121.89, commission, $116.37, work on streets, gas, police and constable's salary, relief to poor, physician's orders and fire companies' appropriations, $3,080.97, state tax, $22, bond held by Amos Wilson, $2,000, leaving a balance due the treasurer of $96.45. The liabilities of the borough are loans on interest, $7,250, interest due April 1st, $195; outstanding orders, $2,040.35; due treasurer, $96.45. As compared with the statement of the previous year this shows a reduction of the funded debt of $2,961.33.

The Delaware Steamboat Company has leased a property for a term of years, located on the Jersey shore, about 1½ miles from the Cohamsey Light House, across the cove, and is now erecting on the grounds a new hotel for excursions and summer boarding purposes. The hotel will be completed in time for this season's excursionists. One of the company's steamboats, the "Columbia," or the "John A. Warner," will make daily excursions to this new excursion point.

William Davis, a young man from Bordentown, N. J., has rented the lot, corner of Cedar and Market streets, opposite Chambers store, for the purpose of establishing a marble yard.

The property formerly occupied by Samuel Pike as a hardware store, is being altered and arranged for the occupancy of the post office. It is the intention of Dr. Baker to have it ready to move into on Monday if possible.

A new agricultural society of Hunterdon, Mercer and Bucks counties has been formed. The meetings of the society will be held at Lambertville, N. J. At a meeting of the present stockholders on Friday evening, the ground was selected and the price of shares fixed at $20 each. Among the committee to solicit stock were: Eastburn Reeder, George Cook, T. T. Eastburn, and G. R. Candis, of this county.

Mary A. Livermore, who is to deliver her lecture, "What Shall We Do With Our Girls?" in the Baptist Church, on next Tuesday evening, is one of the finest lecturers in the country. In New York and Philadelphia she always attracted larger audiences than almost any other lecturer.

LANGHORNE—Friday evening last the Friends School closed with a delightful entertainment by the juveniles, under the charge of Miss Gillam. The tableaux, singing, dialogues and essays were particularly good for those so young and unaccustomed to public speaking.

change of 226,000 votes (not much in a State which cast over five million) would have wiped out the Lehman majority in a landslide year. Now, then, with these facts in mind, some trenchant questions are asked: First, how many votes did Mr. Roosevelt give Mr. Lehman in 1936? Second, how much stronger is Mr. Dewey than Mr. Blackley, the Republican candidate in 1936? Third, how much weaker is Governor Lehman now than in 1936?

WHILE, of course, no one can give exact answers to any of these questions, the only possible answers favor Mr. Dewey. Certainly, running at the head of the ticket and at the very top of his popularity, Mr. Roosevelt brought to all the other Democratic candidates, including Governor Lehman, votes they otherwise would not have got. No one will question that. It may have been 50,000 or 100,000 or more—but certainly a considerable number. If the head of the ticket is strong, he pulls the others up; if weak, he pulls them down. So much for the first question. As to the second, the answer is that, of course, Mr. Dewey is stronger than Mr. Blackley. Again no one can tell how much, but this we know—it was conceded he would beat any candidate the Democrats could put up except Lehman. Blackley was the hackneyed type of Republican; Dewey is young, attractive, new, virile and far better known.

THE third question as to whether Governor Lehman is weaker than he was two years ago, has to be answered in the affirmative—not because of anything he has done or failed to do but merely because of the accumulation of little resentments that inevitably pile up against a man who has been a long time in office—whether he be Governor, Senator or President. It is a basic fact in politics that they don't grow stronger in proportion to length of service; they grow weaker.

AS TO whether Mr. Roosevelt can deliver to Mr. Lehman as many votes in 1938 when he isn't on the ticket as he did in 1936 when he was, there can be but one opinion. Obviously, no — particularly as there are certain fewer voters who want to see Mr. Roosevelt's power continued after 1940 than there were who wanted him elected in 1936. And there is one other point which the Dewey publicity will—or at any rate, should—make generally known—to wit, that in addition to the fact that Mr. Jimmy Hines, whom Mr. Dewey is trying to send to prison as a racketeer, was a member of the convention which nominated Governor Lehman—Mr. Hines' attorney, Mr. Lloyd Paul Stryker, is sending out personal letters soliciting contributions for the Lehman campaign fund. That, if properly handled, ought to make a few votes for Mr. Dewey.

HULMEVILLE

Friday guests of Mrs. Samuel Black were her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark, Trenton, N. J. From Sunday until Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Everett, Middletown Township, are entertaining their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Everett, and the latter's mother, of Harrisburg.

The guest preacher in Neshaminy Methodist Church, yesterday morning, was the Rev. Henry Cunningham, pastor of Langhorne Presbyterian Church, he exchanging pulpits with the Rev. Robert H. Conly. Last evening Mrs. Edwin M. Lathrop delivered the message, and Miss Betty Lathrop favored with a saxophone solo.

The sum of $15 was received by the Red Cross from Hulmeville residents for relief of hurricane sufferers in New England, the local Red Cross chairman, Miss Clara L. Hilck, reports.

SYNOPSIS
Margaret, eldest of the three Wickham girls, is the prettiest. It is she who provides the boy friends for her sisters, Natalie and Barbara. With most of the eligible young men of the community to choose from, Margaret picks Kenneth Raleigh, penniless but popular and handsome young football hero, Margaret's best friend, Sue Decker, also loves Kenneth. Margaret announces her engagement to Ken. Then comes the blow of financial trouble. Alex Wickham has lost all his investments. Margaret postpones her marriage and goes to work in a dress shop. Ken only earns $18 a week in a haberdashery but gets an offer from a brokerage house to represent them in Honolulu. He enthusiastically tells Margaret of his plans. They will get married and sail in two weeks. She tells him it will be impossible for her to leave her family just yet and go with him. Ken leaves in anger, saying he is through.

CHAPTER XI

After a long time Margaret came into the house. She walked right through the hall, and up to her room. In the morning she was heavy-eyed and pale, but she was in the kitchen in time to get the breakfast things started, and to fix a tray for Aunt Bet, for Babe to carry upstairs.

Babs said, "Maggie, I overheard something last night. I didn't mean to listen, but Ken talked so loud. I worried all night. It isn't all right."

"Yes, it's all right."

"Oh, Maggie! No!" Tears welled in Babs' blue eyes, but not in Margaret's. She shed all her tears.

"Yes," she said, "it's true."

Alex Wickham, tan overcoat over his arm, came in to see if Margaret was ready to drive to the train with him. "Why the thunder clouds on such a bright, spring day?"

"Oh, no reason at all," Babs said irritably, "except that Margaret isn't going to marry Ken!"

"I sent him away, Daddy. It's all off."

"Well, my dear! If you sent him away, why the clouds? Why drop like the fifted farmer's daughter?"

"Sorry," Margaret said stiffly.

Babs said, "Maybe you'll make up, darling!"

Dear Babs, Margaret smiled. "I'm afraid not. It's just a little hard to take right away. To get used to it. After all, Daddy I've been engaged nearly four years. That is, practically. But I'll get used to it. Come on—we'll miss the train."

Babs watched them leave, Daddy expounding, explaining as they went down the broad stairs, cut across the lawn to the garage where the old, outmoded car waited.

Natalie burst into the breakfast room, just as the engine started, and the two drove away, exploding: "I wanted the car!"

"You're too late. Anyway, it's just as well. Margaret's in an awful state. She and Ken broke up last night, and she cried all night. I heard her. She looks awful this morning."

Natalie said, "You might have crazy. It's more likely something about Susie. She's found out something about Susie."

"Blah! He hates her. That nitwit couldn't take him away from Margaret!"

"Any female can take any man away if she sets her mind on it, and the other one won't fight back the same way."

"I tell you Sue had nothing to do with it. It was because he wanted her to go on the Lurline and she said she couldn't, but she'd come later, and he said no, that he wouldn't wait for her."

"He said that!"

"Uhuh—I heard him. And Margaret said, 'You can't mean it, Kenny—and he said he couldn't make it any plainer.'"

"The low hound!"

"Yes, isn't he? So he went out, and she ran after him—"

"She would," Natalie said, piling jam on her toast. "Of all the dumb tricks! So then what happened?"

"I wasn't trying to listen—I just happened to, and naturally I was stunned—"

"But what did she do afterwards?"

"Nothing. Just went upstairs. And I heard her crying afterwards. I woke up three different times, and she was still crying."

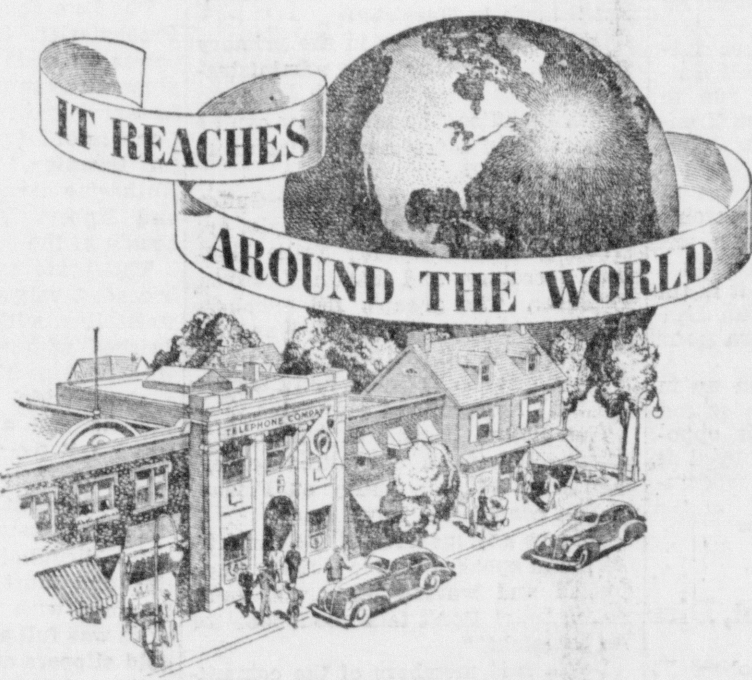

"She's crazy. She should have gone."

"I know, but look, Nat. If she had—"

"We'd have got along somehow."

"I suppose so." Babs brightened. "Anyway, it isn't as if Maggie never had but the one boy friend in her life."

"He's the only one she ever

but it's part of your own home town

ALMOST anyone you know, anywhere in the world, is within reach of your telephone voice. Telephone service is state-wide, nation-wide, world-wide.

Yet your telephone service is largely a home-town service. Most of the calls you make are to people nearby. And most of the telephone people who serve you live and work in your own home town. Some of them are your friends and neighbors.

This company must be big to serve 1,220,000 Pennsylvania telephones. The Bell System must be big to serve the entire nation. Big because its job is big. But when you take the system apart, you find that it is simply a large number of home-town people, working together to give all the people the finest telephone service in the world at the lowest possible cost.

Is your home or office equipped to take full advantage of modern telephone service? An extension telephone saves time and steps; affords extra protection, privacy and convenience. You can have another telephone in your bedroom or kitchen for surprisingly little! Ask the Business Office or any telephone employee for further information.

Mutual understanding and cooperation between the people of this company and the people we serve are essential to the high quality and low cost of your telephone service.

tion and must be won three times before it can be retained. Other winners with a leg on the trophy are: Miss Peggy Budd, Pemberton, N. J.; Andrew Lentini, Bristol; Donald Sutherland, Brooklyn; and Captain Frank deK. Huyler, Rye, N. Y.

Over twenty horses entered this event yesterday but Lucky Strike did the best performing over the fifteen hazardous jumps. Irish Queen and By the Way, both owned by Richard Atkinson, Jr., Media, finished second and third in the event and fourth place went to Sweet Briar, Mrs. J. Harley Nash, New York City.

Three first places went to Back Slider, a brown gelding owned by Mrs. J. Harley Nash, New York City. Mrs.

Nash's horse won the model hunter and green hunter on Saturday and yesterday captured the hunter's class. Eve, a grey mare, owned by Lois Jordan, Glenside, did very well, winning two firsts, a second, a third, and two fourth places, during the show.

Besides winning the Delaware Valley Challenge trophy event, Lucky Strike, also won the open jumping class and finished second in the handy. In the opening jumping class, Mrs. Ford's mount won the event by a mere point over Martin, the difference being on the fact that Lucky Strike knocked over the final bar with her hind legs while the horse belonging to Captain Kaufman did the hitting with her forelegs.

Entries of the Bristol Riding Club showed the why in the working hunter class. Judge James, owned by Tommy Doran, won this event while second place went to Good Friday, owned by Mrs. Harry Hanford, Bristol. Good Friday also finished fourth in the green hunter's class.

Al Hernig and his troop of trick riders gave a wonderful exhibition yesterday. Preceding the show, Hernig and his troop paraded inside the course with Hernig exhibiting one of the silver saddles and his riders all dressed elaborately. A stage coach, drawn by four horses, was also part of the procession and seated in the coach were cow-boys with musical instruments playing and singing cow-boy songs.

Officials were: Judges, saddle and horsemanship, Dr. E. C. Powell, Bryn Mawr, Pa.; hunters and jumpers, Mrs. Frederick Van Lennep, Bryn Mawr, and Joseph Baldwin, West Chester; ringmaster, Roland Baker; veterinarian, Dr. William J. Lee, Philadelphia.

Donors of trophies were: Robert Pearson, Jr.; Asa Fabian, Houston, Pa.; N. L. Vincent, Howard I. James, Esq., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hanford, Thomas L. Doran, all of Bristol; Mrs. Helen R. Clements, Princeton; Miss Helen C. Culin, Elkins Park; Mrs. Warren DeLong, Carversville; Larry Gubb, Mendocino, Pa.; Henry Falmor, Langhorne; Misses Peggy and Betty Mills, Newtown Square, Pa.
